ITEM 9

Bike Path – Beach Erosion

This last southwest swell has eroded more of the support embankment that is tenuously holding up the public bike path adjacent to the District’s Northgate Maintenance Yard. It is becoming more and more likely that the District can expect to hear from the County for another request to make use of the maintenance yard as a temporary detour for the public. The County is attempting to get a Coastal Development Permit – if it fails, it’s very likely that their proposed temporary use of District property could become permanent.
